

New York News Letter

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—To close a carnival of thievery such as this city seldom suffered, the police are laboring to-day, at their wits' end, to compass a secret patrol of the great unguarded stretches of the Metropolis in the summer. Burglars, pickpockets, yeggmen, bunco steers, strong arm men and sneak thieves have preyed boldly on the closed vacancy as well as the open ease of Gotham during the last few weeks of midsummer. Almost every block in the deserted residence districts has felt the haul of the masked marauders and hardly an hour has passed in the resorts and walks of the Summer crowd that watches, wallets and jewelry have not been reported plucked with impunity. Every available sleuth is today being hustled out to lay hands on the rioting crew of crooks and many a policeman is stripping off his uniform to lie in wait for the powers that prey. Thousands on thousands of dollars worth of loot have been reported as the prize of the underworld this week and, unless Bingham's men outdo themselves at once, it is predicted that New Yorkers will pay a toll of more than a million to their thieves before the Summer is over.

FULL OF FANS.

Never in the history of Gotham has the baseball fan run riot as he has in these days of breathless struggle for the pennant. With thirty thousand souls packed into every square inch of the grounds, ten thousand pressing to every point of vantage on the surrounding hills and many thousands more clamoring before the closed gates, the oldest New Yorker is forced to admit that the Nation's sport has never seen better days in these parts. To-day the fan is no longer restricted to any class of the cosmopolitan society of this town. Office boss and office boy meet on the bleachers with brokers, barkeepers, society belles and shop girls to yell in long harmonious concert. Batting averages pass current in the conversation of the magnate's office as freely as in the saloons and slums. Scores rival quotations in the interest of Wall Street, and the fortunes of the diamond are followed as closely as the market. New York may have only one real team this year, but to every man on it there are ten thousand rooters.

Evening service in English at 7:30 o'clock. This service will be a young peoples' rally. Addresses will be delivered by Revs. H. A. W. Yung of Seattle and J. S. Oshlund of Spokane. The English choir will assist with Mr. Ziegler as soloist. Miss Sundquist will render a violin solo. Instead of the usual Sunday school there will be children's service at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Revs. S. D. Hawkins of Troy, Idaho,

TRIAL TALES.

Since Dan O'Reilly has begun to decorate the refreshment stands of Park Row and tell his troubles in the matter of Harry Thaw's bankruptcy maneuvers, a sickly, yellow light is beginning to be shed on the methods of the legal lights of the criminal bar of this City. To-day the spectacle of a pack of lawyers, split up and following cross scents, in the tireless chase after a dissipated fortune is nauseating to the public and not agreeable to fellow members of the Bar. More than one professional reputation has been smirched in the hunt for Thaw retainers and lawyers are finding the telling of the inside story of the defense no less unpleasant than the people in general have found the tale of the trials. Apparently the Thaw incident is one which can never be closed.

PUBLIC POWER.

Now that the car lords have been ordered to restore transfers to the people, it is predicted to-day that a long suffering public may have its first chance in many years to enforce its traction rights. The withdrawal of the paper slips on the main cross thoroughfare of Fifty-ninth Street has caused great hardships to the poor and unfortunate. Hundreds of the crippled, sick and maimed in search of cross-town clinics have each day been refused passage for want of an extra nickel. Thousands of workmen have cut deep into the family support to answer the demand of the trolley kings. If the authorities can make good their promise to bring the magnates to terms, New York will see its first popular triumph within the memory of the present generation.

ENTER EDISON.

No one is surprised to hear that Edison today is apparently farther along in solving the air ship than those who have devoted a lifetime to this particular problem. The people of this city know the talents of their "Wizard" and, now that he has turned his attention to this broad field of science, expect almost anything of him. No public character is more beloved by the crowd here than this veteran inventor and everyone is prepared to see him bring over from his workshop in Jersey new marvels at any time.

and Rev. Herman Lind of Seattle will address the children. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Memorial Lutheran.
There will be no Sunday school, but all the children of the Sunday school and their friends are requested to meet at the church 3 o'clock p. m. Also the members of the church and those generally interested in the English work are also invited to come to this service. Rev. H. A. W. Yung, of Seattle, will address the older people and Rev. N. J. W. Nelson, of Moscow, Idaho, will address the children. Other pastors will also be in attendance and will speak a word of encouragement for our new work in Astoria.
